Cuzin Lou Lou's
Tales from Yonder

Editor's Note: Cuzin Lou Lou's tales are to be enjoyed as a light-hearted form of Southern expression

Cuzin Lou Lou was out of town for a few days last week, and while she was gone Sister did something almost unbelievable...she tidied up Lou Lou's room and washed all her dirty clothes!

Sister knew Lou Lou would return home tired from her trip, and she would not have time to get all those things done before the New Year. So, Sister won herself a "Good Sister Badge" by doing those things for Lou Lou.

It was a pleasant surprise for Lou Lou! She knew Sister had that niceness in her all along.

Now, though, Lou Lou has to wonder if it will come back to haunt her in the upcoming year. She just feels there will be a "remember when I cleaned and washed your clothes while you were away..." moment.

Maybe it was simply because Sister carries out Mama's old New Year's beliefs and thinks all the laundry must be completed before the end of the New Year. Either way...Lou Lou was the winner this go-round due to Sister's gift to her.

Now, talking about those New Year's beliefs, Sister did take it a step further this year. She apparently had been doing some "reading" about the superstitions that go along with the New Year's Day holiday, and she decided that not only could the Yonder Gang not wash clothes on New Year's Day, but they also could not wash the dishes during the day either.

Since the gang enjoys a meal of pork chops, black-eyed peas, and cabbage with cornbread on the day each year, that meant there were plenty of dirty dishes piled in the sink by day's end. Papa was the unfortunate one that got the joy of loading the dishwasher on Jan. 2nd and cleaning the kitchen back up. Let's just say...he was not a fan of Sister's newly added superstition.

Lou Lou is not a big believer in those superstitions, but she gladly goes along with them each year for a couple of reasons. Number one – the food is good. Number two – it helps Sister hold on to a memory of Mama of something the two shared. That alone is enough to keep honoring the superstitions.

One thing the gang does not ever plan to do is let go of things they shared with Mama, and that includes observing New Year's superstitions. Who knows...maybe one day those peas and greens will actually bring on some extra good luck and cash! It certainly won't hurt to give it a whirl each year.

And...if we need to not wash the clothes and/or dishes one day to help keep folks safe...well, so be it. Papa needs something to do each Jan. 2nd anyway.

Here's hoping you all have a great 2024, and remember...

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

Beginnings: It's a New Year
Welcome to the beginning of a new year, which means it's time for reflecting on the past year and how to improve your wellness, health, and life in the upcoming one. For those who have lost someone: resolution season can be a difficult time of making promises that are hard to keep. Here are a few tips to help get through resolution season.
Make Tangible Goals. It's easy to say "I want to lose weight," or "I want to make more money," but those are somewhat abstract goals. How do you plan to lose weight? How are you going to make more money? Attach concrete tasks to each goal. You can pledge to improve work output and earn a bonus or promotion. You can vow to cut down on sweets or fried foods and plan to work out more to lose weight. Those make aspirational goals easier to ground and easier to obtain. For those grieving, the goals may be more rooted in emotion. "I want to cope better with loss," or "I want to honor those I have lost." Those also can be turned into tangible goals. Scheduling those crucial first appointments with grief counselors or therapists can help aid some of the grief of loss. Now, for honoring those that have passed on, those goals can be more varied.
Getting Creative. Honoring those that have been lost is a deeply personal task. Each person is different, and each person's legacy is different. Some would love to be honored by a special memorial garden, while others would want their loved ones to go on one more spectacular trip. Other ways of honoring those lost would be to vow to visit the places where your loved ones are laid to rest more often. You could also try new expressive ways to cope and grieve through artistic expressions like poetry or painting.
Be Honest With Yourself. Change of any kind is difficult. While still processing the grief of a lost loved one, change is even more difficult. Be honest with your emotions and your grief. If you stumble along the way, know that you can always get back up. If you miss a day working out or cannot visit the cemetery as often as you'd like, accept it as a temporary stumbling point and move on, vowing to do better next time.
This resolution season, be kind to yourself. Accept that each step is a step forward and grief comes in many forms. Maybe it's an overemphasis on working out or cooking, or it manifests as a nearly paralyzing fear to try anything new. Use this resolution season to try new things or rediscover some old hobbies that you love and shared with those who have passed. Take each day as an opportunity to honor the legacy of your loved ones.

CHURCH & AREA NEWS

Reflections

by Michael J. Brooks, Pastor
Siluria Baptist Church

The Things That Endure in Ministry

"Today I went back to the place I used to live," to quote song writer Bill Gaither.

As a pastor for many years, I'm often invited to conduct weddings and funerals in churches I used to serve. On this day I conducted a service for a long-time member who'd had declining health and had been out of state for years living near her son. I remember her as a faithful church member, a Sunday School teacher and a member of the church choir. So, I was happy to share some fond remembrances with the gathered family and friends.

The sumptuous lunch the church served gave opportunity to visit with old friends, and I came away with affirmation of a theory I've had for some time.

Two people told me how much relatives appreciated my visits with them in hospitals and the prayers I prayed with them during their illnesses. Pastors are in hospitals and nursing homes most every week, and it's often hard to remember specifics, but I did remember these two. One of these men was in two separate hospitals in two cities and I thought of him when I visited with our student pastor lately in a particular hospital since this was only my second time in that place and in that city.

No one at the funeral thanked me for any sermons I delivered while their pastor. I don't mean they weren't an appreciative audience, because they were. But I've often believed the most enduring things pastors do is pastoral care—being there in times of need.

Of course, the weekly sermons are important, but I've found it true that congregants don't often remember specific sermons. They may remember a few illustrations or stories, and they may remember a time or two when the pastor messed up, or in my case, when I was stung by yellow jackets while conducting a graveside service!

Someone made a good analogy once about meals at home. We may not remember specific menus too clearly, but we do know we had a nutritious and balanced diet over the years. Our church members may not remember specific sermons but hopefully they know they were fed a steady diet of God's truth.

A pastor must speak the truth and always speak it in love (Ephesians 4:15). But it's also true that what people most seem to remember is the ministry of presence when he or she stands with them in illness or grief, or at the wedding altar or in the baptistery.

Pastors go to seminary to learn to exegete scripture and to systematize theology, and this is good.

But we also learn by experience the value of caring for others who hurt.

Protective Boundaries

Throughout elementary school, my daughter did her homework on her own without any prodding from me. During the first week of junior high, she forgot to do her homework twice. The new schedule – which featured a greater variety of classes and social engagements, combined with more responsibility and less teacher supervision – was taking its toll on her. Consequently, I told her that I would have to check her homework at night to make sure she had finished it before she could do fun activities. Shocked, she said that this had never happened before. I replied that she had never needed it before, but the previously unnecessary rule came into effect when she did need it. The boundary of "finish your homework in a timely manner" had existed since she had begun to be assigned homework. It was only when the boundary was violated that a corrective procedure was enforced.

God's law drew the behavioral boundaries for the Old Testament era. When people crossed those boundaries, He enacted corrective procedures. The people of that day were not ready for the freedom that we in the New Testament era enjoy [Galatians 5:1; Ephesians 3:12; James 2:12]. This freedom is available because of the better hope that Jesus' life, death, and resurrection bring (compare Colossians 2:14). Even so, we are not to use our "liberty for a cloak of maliciousness, but as the servants of God" [1 Peter 2: 16]. Our place in God's story is one of relationship with His Son rather than keeping of rules, but there are still boundaries. – L.M.W.

My wife and I joined our daughter Melissa and our grandson Lawson one night last week at an ‘escape room’ in Dothan and although I provided very little help, our group solved the mystery and escaped with time to spare. It was fun watching Lawson attack the puzzle of who killed a guest at a party, and it required deep thought and deduction from my three helpers to make it out. I’m not much on puzzles and games, but it was fun to watch the family work together.

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers posted a disappointing 1-2 record at last week’s holiday tournament at the Elba High gym and again struggled to put the ball in the basket as they scored in the 30’s in both losses. Elba played aggressive on defense and allowed an average of less than 50 points a game, but just didn’t score enough to come out on top, and will definitely have to get better on offense if they hope to be an area title contender.

 The Elba Lady Tigers found out their #3 state ranking didn’t scare anyone at last weekend’s holiday tournament as they stumbled to a 1-2 record and got blown out on their own home court in a showdown with 4A power T.R. Miller. The tournament bracket was tough and not a lot of fans thought the Elba girls would come out on top. However, the 12-point loss to Luverne and the 29-point loss to Miller was a shock. Hopefully the tournament will serve as a wake-up call.

 While tournament host Elba struggled to post wins at last week’s holiday tournament, the same wasn’t true for county neighbors New Brockton and Zion Chapel as the Gamecocks won three straight games to take home the tourney title and the Rebels won two of three games to continue on a roll.

New Brockton came into the event with a less than stellar record and weren’t really expected to be a threat in the eight-team field, but came out smoking with an upset win over Brantley, fought past 4A T.R. Miller and then outlasted Luverne to claim the title. The Gamecocks proved to their fans and to themselves they could win no matter the level of competition, and should be looking forward to the rest of the season and their chances in area play.

Zion Chapel scored a season-low points in an opening round loss to 4A T.R. Miller, but bounced back to post impressive wins over Brantley and Pike Lib to close the three-day event with a 2-1 record. The Rebels entered the tournament ranked sixth in the state and again proved the ranking was deserved as they never stopped battling in any of the games and won with hustle and desire. They are a fun bunch to watch.

 I know we still have two months left in the current high school basketball season and then jump into baseball and softball, but over the holidays I peeked ahead to next year’s high school football schedules and got excited when I saw some of the season openers. The opening week is set for August 22-23, and games on the schedule include Elba at Luverne, Kinston at Zion Chapel, New Brockton at Pike Lib, Enterprise at Andalusia, Georgiana at Greenville, Houston Academy at G.W. Long, T.R. Miller at Reeltown and Dothan at Chiles, Florida. The Elba-Luverne match-up will be the 75th meeting between the former rivals and the first meeting since back in 2017, while the Kinston-Zion Chapel match-up will be the 48th meeting of cross-county rivals after a two-year break, and the Andalusia-Enterprise match-up will mark the first time since way back in 1976 the two teams have met. There is no doubt the 2024 high school football season will kick off with a bang!

 In closing.... I want to congratulate everyone that came together last week to make the third annual Pea River Christmas Classic such a huge success. It takes a lot of work and cooperation from a lot of people to stage an event that brings sixteen high school teams to one site three days in a row, and includes a total of twenty-four games during that span. The Elba coaches and staff put in long hours in preparation and during the tournament to make sure everyone in attendance enjoyed their stay on campus, and after just three years the tournament has become one of the top high school holiday tournaments in the entire state. Great job and keep it going for years to come for all area fans.

Elba Tigers tumble in tournament

The Elba Tigers co-hosted the third annual Pea River Holiday Classic last week and posted one win in three outings to claim fourth place in the eight-team event.

“I am a little disappointed about only winning one game in the tournament and a little worried about the beginning of area play,” admitted Elba’s Coach Kelsey Prestwood, “but we played hard in all three games and I know we aren’t afraid to work hard to get better and make a run for an area title. We were streaky shooting the ball from behind the arc and are still making too many turnovers to win close games, and we know that all the games we play will be close and will be won in the fourth quarter. Our guys are winners and expect to win every time they get on the court, and hopefully that will carry on to practice and the games as we get into area play.”

Following is a recap of last week’s three tournament games:

Elba 55 Pike Lib 52

The Elba Tigers staged a fourth quarter rally to squeeze past the Pike Lib Patriots 55-52, in opening round action. Ty Sieving poured in eight first quarter points to help the Tigers jump out to an 18-11 first quarter lead, but the Patriots battled back in the second quarter and by the end of the half has cut Elba’s lead to 34-31. Pike Lib caught the Tigers at 43-43 heading into the fourth quarter. However, Elba regained command and used the inside scoring of Jamal Siler to hold on and post the exciting 55-52 win.

Alvin Henderson and Ty Sieving scored 18 points, apiece, to lead Elba, while also scoring for the Tigers were Jamal Siler 9, Cody Gray 7 and Cameron Gray 3.

Luverne 44 Elba 38

The Elba Tigers fell behind early and saw a gallant second half rally fall short in a 44-38 second round loss to Luverne. A three-pointer by Alvin Henderson was almost the only offense that Elba could generate in the opening quarter as Luverne ran out to an early 12-4 lead, and while Jamal Siler did begin to score inside in the second stanza, Luverne never lost command and carried a 22-12 lead in at intermission. Emmanuel Cooks scored six points and Alvin Henderson added five in the third quarter to spark an Elba rally as the Tigers pulled within 32-29. However, the rally fell short as Luverne regained command and turned back the Tigers 44-38.

while also scoring for the Tigers were Jamal Siler 7, Emmanuel Cooks 6, Ty Sieving 6, Brady Johnson 5, Cody Gray 4 and Jacob Watkins 1. Crumbley scored 14 points to lead Luverne.

T.R. Miller 46 Elba 39

The Elba Tigers battled for all four quarters in a hard fought 46-39 consolation game loss to T.R. Miller. Elba trailed only 13-12 after one quarter as Alvin Henderson drained a pair of three pointers and Emmanuel Cooks muscled inside for six points, and pulled even at the half at 23-23 as Cody Gray, Ty Sieving and Henderson all hit from behind the arc in the second quarter. Jacob Watkins scored 10 points in the second half to keep the Tigers victory hopes alive. However, Elba scored only five points in the final stanza and watched as T.R. Miller pulled away to claim the win.

Alvin Henderson and Jacob Watkins scored 10 points, apiece, to lead Elba, while also scoring for the Tigers were Emmanuel Cooks 6, Cameron Gray 5, Ty Sieving 5 and Cody Gray 3. Heath Kirkland scored 22 points to lead T.R. Miller.

Lady Tigers tripped up twice in tourney

The Elba Lady Tigers co-hosted the third annual Pea River Holiday Classic high school basketball tournament last week and posted one win in three games to place fourth in the eight-team event.

“You learn something every time you step on the court, whether it be at practice or at a game,” said Elba’s Coach Shaun Hammonds, “and we certainly learned last week that we have a lot of work to do if we are going to reach the goals we set before the season began. We lost two games to two very good teams and will learn from the losses, but we are also a very good team and now know that we have to prove that every time we step on the court. We have a target on our backs because of our recent success and every game will be a battle from here on out as we get into area play. While we won’t have a lot of time to rest, that is good, because we need to get back to work while these losses still sting and re-set our dedication to being the best we can be.”

Following is a recap of the three tournament contests:

Elba 66 Pike Lib 4

The Elba Lady Tigers opened tournament action with an easy 66-4 romp past the Pike Lib Lady Patriots. Elba jumped out to a commanding 20-0 first quarter lead and behind the scoring punch of A’Lyric Whitfield went in at intermission with a lopsided 36-4 advantage. The Lady Tigers picked up the pace in the third quarter to open up a 59-4 lead and then coasted in the final stanza to post the 66-4 win.

A’Lyric Whitfield scored 23 points to lead Elba, while also scoring for the Lady Tigers were Ana Caldwell

8, Ny’Asia McCollough 8, Brooke Tinsley 6, Ayrika Caldwell 5, Tajah Robinson 4, Kendra Juarez 4, Alayvia Stinson 4 and Keelie Moseley 4. Mary Stephens scored 4 points to lead Pike Lib.

Luverne 59 Elba 47

The Elba Lady Tigers battled for all four quarters in a hard fought 59-47 second round loss to Luverne. Elba trailed only 11-9 after one quarter in spite of hitting only 4 of 10 free throws, but Luverne stretched its lead to 26-18 by the end of the half and carried a 41-28 lead into the fourth quarter as the Lady Tigers saw a late rally fall short in the 59-47 loss.

A’Lyric Whitfield scored 17 points to lead Elba, while also scoring for the Lady Tigers were Ny’Asia McCollough 14, Tajah Robinson 8, Brooke Tinsley 4, Kendra Juarez 2, Ana Caldwell 1 and Alayvia Stinson 1. KK Dixon scored 18 points to lead four Luverne players that scored in double figures.

T.R. Miller 45 Elba 16

The Elba Lady Tigers fell behind early and never recovered in a 45-16 consolation game loss to T.R. Miller. The Lady Tigers found themselves in a 20-4 hole after one quarter of play, trailed 39-13 after three quarters and never threatened in the lopsided loss.

A’Lyric Whitfield scored 6 points to lead Elba, while also scoring for the Lady Tigers were Ana Caldwell 3, Brooke Tinsley 2, Kendra Juarez 2, Ayrika Caldwell 1, Alayvia Stinson 1 and Ny’Asia McCollough 1. Meg Fountain scored 12 points and Jadin Curry added 10 to lead T.M. Miller.

Elba dominates 1A All-State squad

The Alabama Sports Writers Association announced its 2023 ‘All-State’ high school football selections last week and included on the honored list were a total of six players from the Elba Tigers, two Brantley Bulldogs, two Zion Chapel Rebels and one Kinston Bulldog.

The Alabama Sports Writers Association has selected a high school football ‘All-State’ team each December since 1982, with nominations coming from coaches across the state and final selections made by a panel of statewide sports writers.

The Tigers named first team ‘All State’ included (1st Team) Alvin Henderson, Jamal Siler, Alex Wisecup, Cayden Adkins and Cameron Gray, while Kaleb Mitchell received second team honors.

Henderson, a 5-10, 185-pound, junior, running back, made the statewide list for the second straight season and set the AHSAA state record for rushing yards and rushing touchdowns in a season with 3,523 yards and 61 touchdowns to help lead Elba to the semifinal round of the Class 1A playoffs.

Siler, a 6-4, 285-pound, senior, offensive lineman, recorded 61 devastation blocks, including 41 pancake blocks, and graded out 87 percent on the season, while not allowing a single quarterback sack.

Wisecup, a 5-7, 150-pound, senior, placekicker, scored 105 points during the season as Elba’s placekicker, the second most points ever recorded by a kicker in AHSAA history. He connected on 93 of 96 extra-point attempts and was 4 of 5 on field goals, with his longest being a 33-yarder.

Adkins, a 6-1, 235-pound, junior, linebacker, was in on 120 total tackles during the season, with 81 solo stops, 40 tackles for loss, seven quarterback sacks and one tackle for a safety. He added 12 quarterback hurries, forced two fumbles, recovered two fumbles, had two pass interceptions and blocked one punt.

Gray, a 6-0, 180-pound, senior, defensive back, was a repeat pick on the All-State team, and during the season had eight pass interceptions along with five pass break-ups, 19 tackles and one forced fumble.

Mitchell, a 6-2, 275-pound, senior, offensive lineman, graded 83 percent with 33 devastation blocks, 20 pancake blocks and did not allow a quarterback sack.

Brantley’s Cooper Layton and Romeo Presseley were both named ‘1st Team’ selections. Layton, a 6-0, 180-pound, junior, wide-receiver, rushed for 395 yards and 4 touchdowns on 35 carries; caught 48 passes for 989 yards and 7 touchdowns, and recorded 48 tackles and two pass interceptions on defense. Presseley, a 5-10, 250-pound, senior, offensive lineman, was a five-year starter in the offensive line, graded 90 percent or better in every game, and on defense recorded 60 tackles, with 14 tackles for a loss and seven sacks.

Zion Chapel was represented on the honored list of the state’s top players by (2nd Team) Mason Stuart and (Honorable Mention) Brayden Benbow. Stuart, a 5-11, 205-pound, senior, athlete, rushed for 1,239 yards and 15 touchdowns; passed for 1,160 yards and 10 touchdowns; made 21 tackles, including nine tackles for a loss; recorded two quarterback sacks; connected on 3 of 7 field-goal attempts; and was also the team’s long snapper on punts. Benbow, a 5-11, 175-pound, sophomore, linebacker, was in on 124 tackles during the season in 10 games and recorded 12 tackles for a loss and two quarterback sacks.

Kinston was represented on the ‘All-State’ roster by (Honorable Mention) Colby Tew, a 6-2, 190-pound, junior, running back. The Bulldog standout rushed for 1,386 yards and 10 touchdowns in 10 games, an average of 138.6 yards a game and a 6.76-yard average per carry.

January is School Board Member Recognition Month in Alabama

The Alabama Association of School Boards (AASB) is calling on Alabama's public education supporters to join in celebrating the dedicated service of school board members throughout the state. January marks the 31st annual School Board Member Recognition Month in Alabama.

During this special month, schools, employers, community leaders and education advocates will come together to honor the more than 800 local school board members who tirelessly work to improve education in their communities. AASB is providing a comprehensive toolkit to assist anyone who wishes to show their appreciation for these committed individuals.

The toolkit, available on the AASB website, offers a range of resources and ideas to help supporters recognize the invaluable contributions made by school board members. From sample social media posts and graphics to suggestions for hosting recognition events, the toolkit provides a convenient guide for expressing gratitude.

This year's theme is "Cultivating Brilliance in Alabama Schools," which highlights the role board members play in fostering excellence in education throughout the state. The theme is also a nod to the Alabama Association of School Boards' "Diamond" 75th anniversary being celebrated in 2024.

"School board members play a crucial role in shaping the future of education in Alabama," said AASB Executive Director Sally

Smith. "Their dedication and commitment to our students and communities deserve our utmost appreciation. We encourage everyone to take this opportunity to recognize their hard work and selfless service."

School board members are appointed officials who give their time and expertise to govern local school districts. They work collaboratively with educators, parents, and community members to make decisions that impact the quality of education provided to students. Their responsibilities include setting policies, approving budgets, and ensuring accountability.

"Alabama's school board members are true champions for education," said AASB President Brad Ingle. "They are the voice of the community, advocating for the needs of students and working to create positive learning environments for every student. We are grateful for their commitment."

For more information on how to participate in School Board Member Recognition Month and access the toolkit, please visit the AASB website at www.AlabamaSchoolBoards.org/SchoolBoardMonth.
